Learning outcomes
Seminar participants will broaden and deepen their knowledge of development economics (development finance). By writing a seminar paper on a specific development finance topic, they will analyse specific economic issues and derive policy implications from the analysis.
Content
This seminar will deal with specific issues in development economics. Usually, it has a strong focus on development finance topics from a management and economics perspective. Students will apply analytical tools to understand these issues in developing countries, to examine empirical evidence, and to evaluate policy options for governments in to promote development.
Teaching methods
Seminar (writing of seminar paper, presentations and discussions)
Mode of assessment
The module examination consists of a written seminar paper and the presentation of the paper (max. 50 points each). The module score is then calculated on a point scale from zero to 100 points. Students can achieve bonus points for active class participation.
Requirement for the award of credit points
Credit points are awarded after successfully passing the module examination (written seminar paper and presentation). Students must achieve at least 50% of the attainable points to obtain credit points for the module.
