Learning outcomes

The aim of the course is for the students to get accustomed to contemporary issues in their field and to interpret the corresponding findings. Theoretical considerations will be accompanied by empirical results. This should enable them to make well-grounded statements concerning the field of study covered in the lecture.

Content

This module deals with the advanced analysis of specific topics in the field of empirical economics (e.g., labor economics, health economics, or education economics). In the lecture, the participants of the course are introduced to the theoretical and empirical concepts of the respective topic in order to get a comprehensive understanding of the current state of research in their field.
